Western Union wants to end deliveries to Chosen area

CHOSEN—This tiny unincorporated community which rivaled neighboring Belle Glade in growth potential in the early days of the Glades was singled out this week to receive one fewer communication service.

Chosen, if Western Union has its way, will no longer receive free delivery service of incoming telegrams...at least the parts of Chosen which aren't within the city limits of Belle Glade.

Western Union filed a petition with the Federal Communications Commission Nov. 12, "to discontinue the physical delivery service to the community of Chosen," although the local agency is being instructed to supply that service to Glades Correctional Institution.

In a public notice published in today's Belle Glade Herald, Western Union promises to telephone recipients of telegrams in Chosen from the telegraph office in West Palm Beach.

The Belle Glade agency for the telegraph company is now located in White's Auto Store on South Main Street and Manager Dwight Holt said he was unaware of the decision by Western Union. White's has been the agent for about one month.

Holt said the usual procedure, when he receives a telegram for any area outside the city limits, is to first attempt to deliver the message by telephone.

If the person receiving the message has no phone, he said he physically delivers the telegram, sometimes two or three times if the recipient isn't home on the first try.

Ironically, he said he has already been charging a fee over and above the in-city fee to persons living in Chosen but outside the city limits while he has been instructed to treat GCI as inside the city limits.

Holt said the delivery charge is computed in the West Palm Beach office. He added the notice may be the result of a misunderstanding of the geography of the Glades on the part of Western Union officials.

Western Union Area Supervisor L.F. Barber, who authorized the notice to be printed, wasn't available in his Miami office for comment. J.H. Baker, an assistant, said Chosen in the future would be treated as outside the city limits of Belle Glade.

Baker said anyone in the future who sends a telegram to anyone in Chosen must guarantee the delivery fee before it would be delivered.

Holt said he didn't know why the company was singling out Chosen. "I don't believe there are 50 homes over there," he said, "and it's also closer than GCI."

Anyone wishing to express an opinion on the application may communicate in writing with the FCC in Washington before Dec. 15.

Dinner to honor Heldtman

Four Glades residents are helping prepare a testimonial dinner being given Dec. 11 at the Goldmans Beach Hotel on Singer Island to honor outgoing Palm Beach County Sheriff William Heldtman.

Capt. Claude Tindall, who heads up the sheriff's detachment in the Glades, along with his wife, will be on the patron committee and Mr. and Mrs. J. Ray Hattion of Pahokee, both members of the Glades Republican Club, are on the advisory committee.

Co-chairman of the evening will be Barkley Henderson and Mrs. Roy Tuchreiter. Tindall said a number of political officials will be on hand to toast (and roast) Sheriff Heldtman.

Invitations are in the process of being mailed out but for additional tickets and information, those interested can call 944-1961.

Up a pole

He wasn't being run up the flagpole to see who saluted but Bob Murray of Kingsland, Ga., who operates under the corporate name of Georgia Towers, still got a lot of attention Friday while he was strapping in on the 'S' curve at the top of the pole in front of the Belle Glade Fire Department. Hanging from a bosun's chair-stirrup arrangement of rope and faith, Murray first straightened out the pole, then pointed it, taking the difficult job as just part of a day's work. For the other part, he painted the radio mast atop city hall in nothing flat.

In GCHS vocational students

VICA to stress work ethic

A new group at Glades Central that's part of an older state and national organization is getting a fresh look at an old concept...

There is dignity in work. The club is known as VICA, the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, and sponsored by Kenneth Bowermeister and David Veale said dignity in work gets to the heart of the matter.

The 15 members who are getting the club off the ground at Glades Central are all enrolled in vocational courses such as Bowermeister's auto mechanics classes or the auto body repair classes taught by Veale.

Co-sponsors are Rufus Washington, who teaches block and brick laying, and Bill Pike, who teaches classes in welding.

"VICA isn't anything new," Bowermeister stressed. "It's been around along time and I've tried to organize it here for several years but it never took until now."

He said the club has a number of ideas for projects, including participation in the city's Beautification Committee activities, but the primary objective is to instill a pride in performance.

"Too many people have no feeling for their jobs today," Bowermeister explained. "That's what's happening to labor today. Nobody gives a damn about their job."

The biggest problem today is a lack of personal pride," he went on. "When someone speaks highly of what you do, the natural thing is for you to try to do more and better. It has something to do with the ego."

One way Bowermeister said he hopes that pride will become a part of the club members in through competition. He says VICA offers a chance to compete with other students from other schools for state and national recognition.

He pointed out that there are already two other VICA clubs in Palm Beach County, located at the North and South Vocational Centers, as well as other clubs around the state.

He said the clubs sponsor competition within the students' vocational areas as well as a national Vocational Olympics which includes competition in a number of occupational areas.

Besides the competition, VICA is expected to foster interest in a student's vocation by providing chances for internships.

Development in other areas such as civic interest, education and social life are also expected to be furthered by the club.

"One of the things I want to do is get the members involved," Bowermeister said. "For instance, when we choose the officers, a lot of the kids didn't want to take jobs because they didn't think they could handle them. "I told them they'd never know if they could handle the positions or not until they'd tried," he said. "That persuaded some of them to at least try to do the job."

While VICA itself was organized in 1964, Bowermeister pointed out that the concept is much older, dating back to the 1920's and later on, into the depression years of the '30's.

The organization now extends all over the United States and is sub-divided into regions. Florida is part of Region II, which includes 10 states and two territories from Indiana to the Virgin Islands.

to shorten sessions

Commissioners to limit talking

Obviously weary of meetings which last until midnight and beyond four of the city's five city commissioners took a step Monday to shorten the sessions.

Holding up a kitchen timer to illustrate his point, Commissioner Aubrey Farmer moved a resolution to be drawn up by City Attorney John Baker to limit discussion of a given subject by any commissioner to 15 minutes or take it to a workshop session.

Farmer first mentioned the limitation immediately following the last city commission meeting two weeks ago. It was obviously aimed at Commissioner Tom Altman.

"I clocked us the other night," Farmer said, "and we talked 47 minutes (on whether the commission should reserve 26 sewer connections for Alma Subdivision built by Roe Steele). It should have taken three minutes."

In the discussion two weeks ago, Altman repeatedly demanded to know how the other commissioners considered it fair to reserve connections for two other developments on which no work has begun while refusing to reserve more than six connections for Steele's development which is almost completed.

"You all can shout me down or gavel me down," Altman told the other four commissioners who voted for the resolution Monday night, "but I have no intention of abiding by something like that."

Altman later said he felt there might be some constitutional question to the limitation since the legislative bodies such as the commission are by their very nature deliberative.

"It'll be interesting to see what happens the first time we run over 15 minutes," he said.

Earlier in the meeting, Altman had attempted to insert the reservations for the subdivision into another motion which extended a similar reservation for another six months to Wayne Carter.

Farmer asserted the commission isn't holding up Steele and the motion died for lack of a second but when Farmer asked Steele, who was in the audience, if the city is holding up his development, Steele said it was.

In still another action connected with the development, the commission approved a given subject by any commissioner to 15 minutes or take it to a workshop session.

Following that move, the commissioners approved on a second reading an ordinance amending the development into the city.

In other action, city commission:

* Took no action on a request by a number of mothers of children enrolled in a Community Action Council headstart program temporarily housed in the Lake Shore Civic Center to extend the use time past Nov. 26.

* Granted a request by Frank Green Chrysler to install a mobile home on the used car lot to house a watchman, providing the dealership first demolishes a building already on the property.

* Authorized the city manager to submit a bid to buy a number of pieces of garbage collection equipment, mainly in order to get several dumpsters, now owned by Pahokee. Pahokee has gone to another system of collecting garbage and no longer needs the equipment.

Work starts

Gathered for the signing were Steele, PBJC Board of Trustees Chairman Dolly Hand, PBJC President Harold Manor, Belle Glade Mayor Ralph Kirk and Belle Glade City Commissioner Kenneth Harris.

Steele said he had already begun preliminary work on the site and expected to begin construction Tuesday. The contract calls for work to be completed in 300 working days but Steele said he expected to be completed before school begins in the fall.

VICA MEMBERS include (front) President Jerry Kirchman, Reporter Roy Smith, Vice President Jimmy McClain, Secretary William Lane and Treasurer James Holly. In rear are Robert Dowdell,

New banker

Harold Rowland was employed recently by the Bank of Belle Glade as First Vice President. Rowland, a native of Wheeler County, Ga., moved to Belle Glade from West Palm Beach, where he was associated with Jacksonville and Sanford previously with that corporation. President Wayne Mikell said Rowland's duties will be general overall banking, including loans and securities.

Christmas decorations going up

PAHOKEE — Christmas decorations in the city's shopping area will be put up beginning this weekend following a directive from City Council members.

The action was ordered after Chairman Wynona Cummings commented, "Belle Glade has once again beaten us in getting decorations installed."

Past procedure has been for decorations to be put in place the week following Thanksgiving. Cost of the project is about $1,000 which is included in the city's budget.

Council members also requested a police department check of taxi licenses which are not being used, and ordered them picked up for re-issue.

A council member said "They are being bought up by some people and keeping others from making a few bucks."

Police officials will check the permits to determine how many are being used.

Alice Ramey, retiring Everglades Memorial Hospital Auxiliary past president, with more than 18,000 hours of volunteer work to her credit, was a guest of honor at the hospital's Awards Night Dinner. Seated at left is her husband, George and standing is W.E. (Bill) Johnson, Hospital Board member.

Italians Mills named visit county

County Commissioners last Thursday presented a berribboned resolution to two Italian officials who were visiting in the Palm Beaches.

Recipients of the honor were Marcello Serafini, minister of trade for Italy, and Antofino Azzarolo, Italian Trade Commissioner. They were in the county to promote Italian products during Italian-American Week sponsored by the North Avenue Association of Merchants in Palm Beach.

The Economic Council of Palm Beach County is seeking to locate an Italian Trade Commission in the County.

PAHOKEE — City Council members Tuesday appointed Dale Mills to fill a vacancy on the police department.

Mills is a former dispatcher who will finish his training Dec. 2, the day his appointment becomes effective.

Offices close

All county governmental offices and vehicle inspection stations will be closed today and Friday in observance of the Thanksgiving Holiday.

Offices will reopen for normal business on Monday (Nov. 29) at 8:30 a.m.

Pahokee not in waste plan

Glades officials from Belle Glade and South Bay have agreed with the county's Solid Waste Authority on a three-phase waste disposal program in the western sector of the county. Pahokee is not yet committed.

Belle Glade Mayor Ralph Kirk and South Bay Mayor Dan Tanner, attending a November meeting of the Solid Waste Authority in Belle Glade, told members the two city commissions are in favor of the proposal. They also noted that time was an important factor.

The proposed program would center on an incinerator designed for 24-hour-a-day operation to handle all garbage and trash west of 23 Mile Be-... but include possibly... landfills and compost...

Legislative representatives fair well in appointments

The Glades area representation in Tallahassee fared well last week with the naming of important committee memberships.

Senator Phil Lewis was named chairman of the important joint administrative procedures committee; chairman appropriations; vice chairman finance, tax and claims, education rules and calendar.

Senator Don Childers was named vice chairman executive business; vice chairman health and rehabilitative services, natural resources and conservation.

Senator Harry Johnston, vice chairman personnel, retirement and collective bargaining; judiciary criminal and judiciary civil.

Senator Tom Gallen, who represents neighboring Glades County, was named to head the all-important rules committee.

These key appointments will assure us of continued representation, because all of these men have served us well...fairly and impartially.

Owner gripes about rates

PAHOKEE — Apartment owner Carroll Parker described Pahokee's garbage collection rate as "unfair" Tuesday during an appearance before City Council members.

Parker, who has 60 apartments during a work session next Tuesday to seek a possible solution to his problem. He has six trash containers at the complex, Parker said, and timed a city pickup crew which emptied the trash in six minutes.

Parker also questioned being charged for apartments occupied by persons 65 years of age or over who are exempt from fees under terms of the

New trash ordinance proposed

PAHOKEE — An amendment commercial garbage and trash removal ordinance was presented to Pahokee City Council Tuesday, prior to setting a public hearing.

Terms of the proposed ordinance call for rates of $6 each for 90-gallon containers. Those with a 300-gallon capacity will be billed at the rate of $20 for $16 for a second and $3 for each additional unit. These rates, it was explained, are for twice weekly pickup service.

Firms desiring daily service would be charged the following prices:

- Each 90-gallon container would cost $18 a month.
- In the 300-gallon category with daily service, $60 would be billed for the first container, $48 for the second and $24 for each unit over two.

Under terms of the ordinance, exemptions would be given churches and church parsonages actually occupied by the pastor or other church personnel where no rent is charged and water service is carried in the church name.

This would call for two-day pickup service and excess containers would be billed at regular rates.

Other stipulations of the ordinance are:

- In mobile home and trailer parks where other city water and wastewater services are furnished by a single meter, service to all units in the park, regardless of vacancy in spaces, the rate shall be based on the 90-gallon container rather than per space according to the park permit.
- In office buildings, leased by a single meter, for multiple offices, the rate shall be based on the size container used and the number of pickups required to provide adequate service at a single meter.
- In multiple residential units, such as apartments, where food preparation is made, or provisions are allowed for such preparation in each unit, but water service is provided by a single meter, the rate shall be based on the 90-gallon container scale for two days pickup service per family unit in the complex, regardless of occupancy.

The Director of Public Works shall make a final determination of the applicable rate and notify the customer in writing within 30 days of any rate in excess of $6 per month.

Such determination shall be made based on the number of containers required for the pickups needed to contain all such garbage from that service in a sanitary and safe manner.

Customers who are not satisfied with the rates being charged has a right to a hearing if an appeal is made within 30 days after receipt of rate notifications.

If customers and public works officials are unable to reach an agreement, the problem would then be referred to Pahokee City Council for final action.

Bike path close

PAHOKEE — A bicycle path along State Market Road moved one step closer Tuesday when Pahokee City Council members agreed to its construction with county funds.

The county originally wanted to split the $20,000 cost with Pahokee, but agreed to pay the full cost when commissioners were informed there was no money for the project in Pahokee's municipal budget.

First four days busy

Three new county commissioners — Mrs. Peggy Evatt, Bill Bailey and Dennis Koehler — moved quickly last week to become familiar with county government procedures and problems.

Following their first official board meeting on Tuesday, the trio studied past minutes of their committee assignments, attended a budget workshop meeting and inspected roads, parks and drainage projects, in various districts.

County Administrator John Sanbury is arranging future workshops.

Union wins mill election

PAHOKEE — Osceola Sugar Farms mill workers have voted to affiliate with the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers.

Union representation was approved last week during National Labor Relations Board election by a 134-79 margin. Election officials said 17 contested votes wouldn't alter the result.

The labor organization, according to Frank D'Algo, is now the bargaining agent for mill workers at the Osceola Sugar mill in the Glades area.

E D'Algo said NLRB certification of the election is expected without delay prior to the company and union beginning contract negotiations.

An Osceola official termed the election "friendly" and said the union's win won't cause any difficulties for the company.

Marijuana valued at more than $3.9 million is burned

PAHOKEE—Marijuana valued at $3.9 million was burned in Pahokee last week following its confiscation from a shrimp trawler in the St. Lucie Locks near Stuart.

Federal Drug Enforcement Administration spokesman Ray Magno said the "pot" was seized when a trawler, Grand Kane, was trapped in the locks. He said the 65-foot boat had been suspected of drug smuggling prior to the "bust".

Although burning the six tons of marijuana took several hours, there was no effect on Pahokee residents as the pollution-free incinerator switches nearly 100 percent of its smoke to oxygen.

Magno said illicit seizures from throughout Southern Florida are destroyed in Pahokee. Explaining the volume of confiscations makes storage impossible, the Drug Enforcement Administration official said photographs and samples are retained as evidence.

When the trawler was trapped, the marijuana was found packed in the hold by Customs agents and Martin County sheriff's deputies.

The drugs, officials said, were brought to Pahokee in two rented trucks driven by Martin County deputies. When investigators boarded the boat, they arrested Frank L. Metzger, 29, and Harry M. Mills, 35, both of Fort Lauderdale, along with James Richard Jordan, 30, of Hollywood.

Bond for the three smuggling suspects was set at $75,000 each during a preliminary court appearance.

Controversial garbage franchise goes to Circuit Court for ruling

WEST PALM BEACH — A controversial garbage franchise contract with four private firms has been referred to Circuit Court by a newly constituted County Commission.

On the advice of County Attorney William Rutter, the five-member board unanimously directed the legal department to seek a declaratory judgment on validity of the contract. A week earlier, with three outgoing commissioners voting, the commission had agreed 3-2 to extend garbage collection contracts six years, making the pacts for 10 years effective retroactive to Oct. 1.

However, Commissioner Lake Lytal at that time changed his vote to the prevailing side to be could ask for reconsideration this week. He did. But Rutter suggested a positive rescinding of the previous action might result in a costly law suit, filed by franchise holders on breach of contract grounds. Commissioner Bill Bailey, by substitute motion, then followed the recommendation to ask for a court declaratory of judgment on contract validity.

New commissioners Bailey, Dennis Koehler and Peggy Evatt joined Lytal and Chairman Bill Medlen to make the vote unanimous.

A week earlier, former Commissioners Robert F. Culpepper, E.W. (Bud) Weaver, and Medlen approved an extension for the garbage franchise holders. The private firms are Palm Beach Sanitation, County Sanitation, Nichols Sanitation and South Florida Sanitation. The new agreements, signed by the chairman according to the legal department, called for a $1,000 per year fee to the county for each of the 11 districts served by the four firms.

Commissioners opted to postpone reorganization until Jan. 11, following an alternate presented by the legal staff. However, Lytal unanimously was chosen vice chairman to succeed Weaver until the second Tuesday in January. Medlen will continue as chairman.

In other business, the commission: —Approved a supplemental agreement for improvements to Palm Beach International Airport, especially a new runway. The agreement calls for an outlay of $2.8 million, including a 75 percent contribution by the federal government and 12.5 percent each from the state and county.

Garden Club members hear about Land Trust Fund

PAHOKEE — Iner Reeves was welcomed as a new member of the Pahokee Garden Club at the November meeting held in Everglades Federal's Community Room with President Bernice Simonson presiding.

Tina Elliott, District 10 Director, Florida Federation of Garden Clubs, Inc., explained to the group the purpose of the American Land Trust Fund which has been established for preservation of wilderness land of great value to the people of our country because of its natural beauty that is currently being threatened by commercial development.

The club voted a $10 contribution to the ALT Fund to go toward the preservation of the Tiger Creek wilderness.

At the meeting that individuals as well as clubs are being asked for contributions of any kind to the American Land Trust Fund, and that a contribution of $200 will purchase one acre of the lovely wilderness land.

The club also voted at the meeting a $15 donation to World Gardening.

Members were asked to make special efforts to plant in their yards shrubbery that bear the club flower, the red hibiscus blossom; also to plant liberty trees where ever possible.

On the program Martha McIntosh and Esther Hundley, past presidents of the club demonstrated the use of dried plant materials, some of which may be found in one's own backyard, in the making of beautiful arrangements to grace the home during the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays. They had on display several lovely arrangements of original design which they had handcrafted with native dried materials.

At the opening of the meeting members responded to the roll call by naming a wild flower even though the plant that bears the pretty flower is often classified as a weed. Each member brought a plant or cutting for a plant or cutting exchange.

It was announced that instead of a regular meeting in December the club will sponsor a Christmas Open House with holiday decorations and arrangements at home of Mr. and Mrs. James Harry Wilkinson, Jr., 1049 E. Main St., from 8 to 10 p.m. Friday, Dec. 17. In charge of the arrangements for the Christmas Open House are Tina Elliott, decorations chairman and Dorothy Buckner, hospitality chairman. Garden Club members and their guests are invited to attend.

Miss Clantha Carrigan

Miss Carrigan tells engagement plans

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Carrigan 801 S.W. Ave. B, announced this week the engagement of their daughter Clantha, to Ronald Charles McCurdy, son of Mrs. Dorothy McCurdy of 808 S.W. Ave. B and the late Charles M. McCurdy.

Miss Carrigan, a native of Belle Glade, attended the University of Florida, receiving a bachelor of arts, master of education and specialist in education degrees. She is currently pursuing a doctorate degree in education at Florida Atlantic University. Miss Carrigan is employed with the Community Action Migrant Program.

The groom-elect, also a native of Belle Glade, attended Florida A&M University, receiving a bachelor of science degree. He began graduate studies at Florida State University and later received a position on the staff as graduate assistant with the Music Department at the University of Kansas.

A June wedding is being planned by the couple.

CONSUMER GUIDELINES

Conserve Energy
Conserve energy by using your laundry care appliances wisely. Separate lightweight and heavy-weight items for faster and more uniform drying. Don't overdry. That wastes energy and can leave some garments with a harsh feel. To eliminate wrinkling, remove garments from the dryer as soon as it shuts off. Also, clean the lint filter of the dryer as often as possible.

The Farm Front

This is National Farm-City Week, stressing the need for cooperation between rural and urban citizens. It is not only a good thing, it is required. Farmers look to the urban population for production of their equipment, consumer goods and services. City people depend on farmers for their food, the raw materials for clothing and shelter and in many cases, their jobs.

Farm and city interests cannot be separated. Millions of city jobs depend on farms about one in every three or four jobs depends upon farming. Some eight million workers are involved in providing the goods and services that farmers buy. Another 12 million work at transporting, processing, storing and selling farm products.

We enjoy the biggest food bargain in history. In spite of rising prices, expected to increase three to four percent this year, the average American family spends less than one-fifth of its after-tax income for groceries. The food bill, naturally, does not include many items found in supermarkets, such as detergents, cigarettes and pantyhose.

When you figure your food bill, subtract all the non-food items such as hardware, toothpaste, soap and magazines. And if you doubt that food is a bargain, compare your food costs to the 40 percent of take-home pay spent for food by the British or the 55 percent spent by the Russians.

Now, during National Farm-City Week, let's take a fair look at the food prices we pay compared with others, and recognize the real bargain we enjoy - a bargain made possible because of our farmers' productivity and amazing efficiency. Thanks to the productivity of farmers and cooperation of farmers and food industry workers, we are the best fed people in the world, at the lowest real cost in history.

Because of the partnership between rural and urban citizens - farmers and non-farmers - modern shoppers may choose from more than 7,000 items at the supermarket, a sometimes bewildering array of goods to

TEEN SCENE

A high priority among teens is keeping skin clear and problem-free, according to a survey of national teen magazine editors. If you're a teen with skin problems, the best thing you can do is be willing to "come clean" and follow some good advice.

To help you "face up" to the clearest year ever, here are some up-front tips from Chatter Laboratories, makers of Mudd, the new cleanser that's especially formulated to remove dirt and oil.

Keep skin super clean, washing it at least twice a day. Washing in the morning will refresh your skin, and let you start with a clean slate. A good scrubbing at night will remove the day's makeup, dirt and oil - real pore-

Goodbread, Lashley wedding

Shelley Annette Goodbread daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howell Yates Goodbread of 405 Fourth Ave., became the bride of James Dennis Lashley of the C & R Ranch on South U.S. 27 Nov. 5 at St. John's Episcopal Church in Belle Glade with the Rev. Gene Nichols officiating over the double-ring candle-light ceremony.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Darrel Lashley of Okeechobee. The bride was escorted to the altar by her father.

Flowers were on the altar and in stands. On either side were colors of the rainbow.

The bride wore an antique silk gown with an empire waist with Alencon lace on the yoke bodice and sleeves with seed pearls. The skirt was appliqued with flowers and seed pearls with an Alencon lace ruffle and a chapel train.

She wore an old fashioned mantilla ankle-length veil with lace trim and appliques & flower with seed pearls. Her flowers were yellow roses, white carnations and baby's breath with white bow and streamers.

Mrs. Sandy Richardson served her sister as matron of honor. She wore a pastel green dress with empire waist and short sleeves, with a cape fastened at the bodice with satin rose. She wore a white wide-brimmed hat with matching green illusion veiling falling to the waist. Her flowers were pom poms, bouquet of mums, baby's breath in rainbow colors with bow and ribbon to match her dress.

The bridesmaids were Miss Pam and Robin Shaw, cousins of the bride from Mayon, and Mrs. Linda Alderman of Clewiston. They were dressed identically to the matron of honor except for the colors of their dresses.

Angelia Alderman of Clewiston was the flowergirl. She wore a beige floor length gown with a ruffled yoke and rose in the center, lace at the neck and sleeves and ruffles on the bottom. She carried a basket of flowers in rainbow colors.

The groomsmen were Larry McWhorter, Bobby Alderman and John Birt Lashley. The ringbearer was James Douglas Richardson.

The bride's mother wore a beige, floor length sleeveless gown with chiffon cape. She carried white carnations, baby's breath, with pastel green set and ribbon.

The groom's mother wore an aqua, floor length gown with long sleeves, ruffles on the neck and sleeves. Her corsage was the same as the bride's mother.

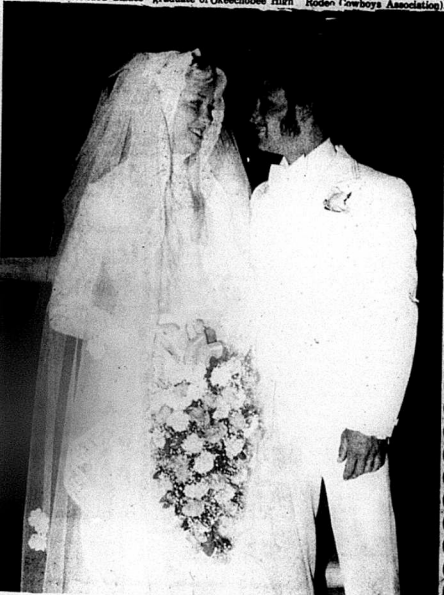

Mrs. Davis Lashley, grandmother of the groom, Mrs. Maggie Goodbread, grandmother of the bride and Mrs. Mary Kennon, great-aunt of the bride, all received corsages of mums, carnations, baby's breath in rainbow colors. Photographs were taken by George W. Farnall and Lee O. Kishman.

Assisting at the reception were Peggy Chavis, Brenda Groves, Cynthia Simonds, and Colleen Goodbread, sister-in-law of the bride. Laura Dykes was in charge of the bride's book. The reception was catered by Freddie's.

The couple took a cruise to the Bahamas for their honeymoon and on their return are making their home at the C & R Ranch.

Hospital employees honored

PAHOKEE - Employees with records of several years of continuous loyal service to Everglades Memorial Hospital and two others who were selected as "Outstanding Employees for the Quarter" during the last six months of 1976 were given special recognition at an Everglades Memorial Hospital Awards Dinner held in the hospital last January.

A special guest of honor at the dinner was Alice Ramsey, immediate past president of the Hospital Auxiliary, who will have completed well over 18,000 hours of volunteer work for Everglades Memorial when she moved from Pahokee to Rockledge the last of January. As a farewell gift in appreciation of her services, Mrs. Ramsey received from the hospital department heads a gold lavalliere with a pendant, inscribed with "A Time To Remember," was delicately decorated with an embossed miniature gold basket filled with semi-precious stones.

On the back was the inscription, "Everglades Memorial Hospital - 1965-76."

Alice Ramsey, signifying her years of service as a Flak Lady.

Also special guests at the dinner were Mrs. Ramsey's husband, George; Thomas Lampi, who succeeded Mrs. Ramsey as Auxiliary president last month; and W.E. (Bill) Johnson of Canal Point, a member of the Hospital Board who presented the awards.

Flas, signifying continuous years of service to the hospital, were presented to Bill Smith, an employee of the Dietary Dept., 15 years; Willie Scott, orderly, five years; and Cecil Davis, five years.

Awards were also presented to Anita Guadalupe, who was selected "Outstanding Employee of the Quarter" ending Sept. 30 and M. (Cobie) "Outstanding Employee of the Quarter" for Oct. Nov., and Dec. of this year. Each received an engraved plaque, a $15 hospital gift certificate and $20 in cash as awards.

The steak dinner, complete with all the trimmings was prepared under the supervision of Doris Wilson, head of the Dietary Dept.

Trejo, Hart vows exchanged

Carol Ann Trejo of Pahokee became the bride of Paul L. Hart, Jr. of Belle Glade in a double ring ceremony held at East Baptist Church of Pahokee at 8 p.m. Nov. 5, with Rev. Davenport officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Katherine Woods of Pahokee and Grover T. Woods of Boca Raton. She attended Pahokee High School and is now employed at the Bank of Pahokee.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Hart, Sr., of Belle Glade, graduated from the Belle Glade High School and is presently employed by the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida, in Belle Glade.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gold Quiana gown with a softly ruffled lace at the neckline, hemline and wrists. Her elbow length veil had a headband of ruffled lace. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, yellow carnations with Baby Breath.

Her matron of honor, Barbara Hendrix of Pahokee, wore a soft green Quiana gown and carried a single yellow rose with Baby Breath.

The bridesmaids, Linda Cowart and Cathy Hart, both of Belle Glade, serving as ushers.

Wore matching gowns of a light green print on a gold background; the bride's daughter, Darlene Trejo, was junior bridesmaid and wore a soft green Quiana gown.

Alicia Mills of Belle Glade was flower girl.

Jake Stevens of Pahokee served as best man with the groom's brother, Ronnie Hart and Wayne Brown, both of Belle Glade, serving as ushers.

The nuptial music was presented by organist Tana Zane Winn with soloist Gary Baker singing, "Welcome To My World" and "More."

Social Chatter

by Maude Vereen

Mrs. Morris Williams (Beverly Ann Williams) of Montgomery, Ala. and her two lovely children were in town to visit her mother, Mrs. Rosa Lee Walker and other family and friends. Also visiting from Atlanta, Ga. was Mrs. Walker's son, Charles Walker. He is attending school in Atlanta. Mrs. Walker was sure happy to have her children home again.

In town this week for the Thanksgiving Holiday Season and to get out of the cold weather are Walter Haslem and Alexander Brown. They are from the north where both are attending school.

Mr. Edell Thomas attended the Cosmetologist meeting in Sarasota, which began on Saturday and ended on Sunday afternoon. There were other beauticians that also attended from this area.

Mrs. Shirley Morris was surprised on her birthday when her sisters, Valerie and Sharon, got a few of her friends together to wish her happy birthday on Saturday evening and she was jolly and happy.

Don't forget the Thanksgiving Community Service to be held, Thursday morning at 9 a.m. at the St. Paul Church of God's Christ on V. St. Avenue E. A Rev. Clarence Brown, pastor. The public is invited to attend.

The first quarterly conference of the Greater West Miami District was held at the Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church, Rev. S.A. Cousin, presiding elder. The business session was held on Friday night and Sunday morning. Rev. Cousin brought a very inspiring message.

After a long conversation with Mrs. Miller, Margaret of Atlanta, and Angela in Detroit, they stated that the weather there is getting cold. Margaret also informed me that her daughter, Cheryl, is home and looking for a job.

Mrs. Henry Miller was the hostess to the Elite Club meeting in her beautiful home. The club members that were present brought items of food to prepare two baskets for by qualified contractors at the office of the Community Development Department, City of Belle Glade, 536 S. Palm Street, Belle Glade, Florida, upon payment of a deposit of $25.00 per set of each set of contract documents, including the specifications and drawings. (The deposit will be refunded to contractor submitting a bona fide bid and returning said contract documents including the specifications and drawings in good condition within seven (7) calendar days after the date set for opening of the bids.)

Bids requested shall be set forth in the Bid Form attached to and being a part of the Contract Documents. The Contract Documents will not be issued unless request is received at least 96 hours prior to opening of the bid.

The Owner may be modified or withdrawn in accordance with Instruction to Bidders prior to opening of the bids and to the public. (60) days after the day of the bid opening.

The bidder reserves the right to reject any and all bids and waive any and all informality, and the right to disregard all nonconforming or conditional bids or counter proposals.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT PROGRAM

NOTICE OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT EFFECT

Notice is hereby given that the City of Belle Glade, Florida has prepared an environmental review record on the project described and has determined that said project will have no significant effect on the quality of the human environment.

PROJECT: FINANCIAL SETTLEMENT PRIOR TO SUBSTANTIAL COMPLETION OF RDP PROJECT A-11.

Due to the control of the City of Belle Glade, certain activities planned under the Neighborhood Development Program were not completed. These include: acquisition of certain parcels; demolition of existing structures; site improvements along South Main Street, SW 2nd Avenue, SW 3rd Street, and SW 4th Street; and rehabilitation of standard housing units.

Project: LAND BANK PROGRAM: Specifically, the acquisition of open space and recreation purposes of the 10 acre parcel contiguous to the existing Lake Shore Civic Center.

The preceding three project will be funded through surplus capital grant funds from the aforementioned financial statement.

The finding of no significant effect is based on the following: While the proposed activities are expected to result in beneficial effects on the residents of the area, the project is not considered to be of major significance within the context of the total human environment in the achievement of local, regional, state, HUD, or national goals or concerns considering the scope and scale of proposed activities to be undertaken.

The environment review record respecting said project is available at the Office of the City Clerk, City Hall Annex, Belle Glade, Florida, between the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, where copies may be examined and photocopied. No further environmental review is proposed to be conducted on said project; and the City of Belle Glade, Florida intends to request the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to release funds for said projects.

Comments respecting the environmental impact of the above described project may be submitted to the City of Belle Glade, City Hall Annex, at: Community Development Department no later than 15 days after the date of publication of this notice.

Good fishing reported

Both bass and speck fishermen reported good catches in the Belle Glade area during the past week according to Friday night, and used live bait to take specks at the first inlet into the lake south of Slim's.

"Most specks were taken on live minnows while bass fishing seemed to be equally divided between live shiners and artificial baits such as plastic worms and Devil's Horse lures," Mrs. Corbin said.

Chuck and Joseph Yetto fished out of Slim's on Monday and came in with seven bass to three pounds each. The Yetto brothers are from Fort Lauderdale.

On Tuesday, Herbert Kestel of Fort Lauderdale used live bait to get seven nice bass.

Winford Hill of Tula, Tenn. also fished on Tuesday with live bait and reported six nice bass. Hill tried his luck again on Wednesday and took five bass with his largest going 6 1/2 pounds.

"Kenny Welby of Belle Glade used live bait on Wednesday to take a 9 1/4 pound bass. This is Kenny's 14th reported 23 bass on largest bass and will be mounted and bragged about for many years, I'm sure," Mrs. Corbin said.

Robert Judd and Al Harris of Delray Beach reported 20 bass on Thursday.

Belle Glade fisherman Lee Crawford took four bass using Devil's Horse lures on Saturday with his largest going 8 1/2 pounds. Lee fished in the Grassy Island area.

Kelly Gardner, Don Craig and Nolen Coons came from Lantana and Boca Raton on the past week according to Friday night, and used live bait to take specks at the first inlet into the lake south of Slim's.

George Smith and Herb Olmstead of Fort Lauderdale also fished on Friday night and used minnows in the canal south of Slim's and reported said.

Ricky and Kevin Keel of South Bay used purple worms in the Grassy Island area on Saturday to catch 18 bass with three going five pounds each. Bobby Soles of Riviera Beach brought in eight nice bass on Saturday using plastic worms.

Jim Layton and Bob and Brian Cotnoir of Fort Lauderdale reported nine bass on Saturday using artificial bait.

Phil Provencal and Jeff Graves of Boynton reported taking 15 bass in the rim canal on Saturday using Moon Green Worms.

Bill Johnson, George Henderson and a group of Eastern Airlines employees from Miami fished all last week with black plastic worms and Rapalas and reported a total for the week of 68 bass.

Mark Powell and Donny Perkins of Belle Glade brought in 12 bass on Sunday, using plastic worms in the Kreamer Island area.

Ray Brewer of Belle Glade took six bass with his largest going seven pounds on Sunday, using live bait.

Belle Glade fishermen Wayne Mikell and Skipper Bowles took 17 specks, using minnows, on Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Theron Wells of Miami brought in 75 specks and two bass on Sunday using live minnows.

Roy Kevin and Mr. Weldon camped in the marina over the weekend with Boy Scout Troop 556 from Pompano Beach and reported several nice fish, including two bass taken from the bank.

Roberto Aquero, George Henderson and Roberto Aquero Jr., all from the Miami area, reported bass and 18 specks, using live minnows in the canal near the tree island north of Slim's.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ramsey from Virginia and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ramsey Jr. from Fort Lauderdale reported using live shiners to take 18 nice bass on Sunday.

Play-off bound Blue Devils whip Raiders

PAHOKEE - Pahokee's Blue Devils slammed in for two first period touchdowns Friday en route to a 26-6 "neighborhood" victory over Glades Central.

Thin was "icing on the cake" of a 9-1 regular season and served as a hard-fought finale before the opening playoff test, against Fort Pierce John Carroll, at 8 p.m. tomorrow on Pahokee Field.

Glades Central, closing out with a 2-6 record, made the Devils fight for every yard although they were outmaneuvered on the front line and in the backfield.

Pahokee wasted little time getting on the scoreboard when Roy Freeman blasted seven yards with less than five minutes gone in the first period. A try for two extra points was stopped by Glades at the goal line.

Glades Central set up the second Pahokee six-point play when the kickoff was fumbled and lost on their own 25.

Two plays put the ball on the five, and a personal foul against Glades gave Pahokee first and goal, just two and one half yards from paydirt.

Ronnie Osborne made it 12-0 as he crashed through the center of Glades line and the margin was upped to 14-0 as Leroy Love dived in for two points.

Ronnie Osborne's extra points put the game on ice with seven minutes to play in the first period.

Leroy Jackson tossed a 10-yard pass to Ronnie Osborne for Pahokee's touchdown No. 3 and it was 20-0 after the run for extra points failed.

Running back David Robinson ended Pahokee's blanketing of opponents when scored from the five with 2:37 left in the first half, which ended a 20-6 when the extra point try flopped.

While play was of the rough and tumble variety in the first half, it slowed during the final periods as the ball repeatedly changed hands.

Pahokee lost the ball three times on fumbles compared to no turnovers for Glades Central.

The Devils also led in passing, gaining 56 yards compared to just 34 for Glades Central 97 yards while Pahokee was assessed 70 yards on the penalty side of the fence.

Ground defense "told the tale," though, as Pahokee blasted for 230 yards while Glades Central 0 6 0 26 G. Central 0 6 0 6 holding Glades Central tight for 47. The Blue Devils also rolled to 13 first touchdowns compared to just 6 for the invaders.

Both squads were hit by numerous penalties, ranging from illegal procedure to personal fouls. Miscues cost Glades Central 97 yards while Pahokee was assessed 70 yards on the penalty side of the fence.

PAHOKEE RECEIVER Ricky Jackson pulls in a pass from quarterback Ronnie Osborne and races away from Glades Central defender Ken Henderson using Pahokee's 26-6 win over the Raiders.

His fishing trip was almost a "blast"

CANAL POINT - Some strange things have been fished from Lake Okechobee, but Joe Raby netted a real "blast" while trolling last week.

When Raby pulled his net out from the water it contained not only the expected fish, but two bombs, as well.

The bombs were turned over to Palm Beach County Deputy Sheriff Marvin Padgett who made a careful drive to Belle Glade.

A Navy team of demolition experts checked the bombs and decided they were harmless and said they would be destroyed at Fort Lauderdale.

Some sections of the Glades were used for bombing practice in the 1950 period, according to officials, and the bombs were probably dropped during that time.

Senate president visits agricultural industry

Newly installed Florida Senate President Lew Brantley visited the south Lake Okechobee agriculture area Monday on a business and pleasure trip and spoke to a group of community leaders at the Clewiston Inn.

Bob Lee served as master of ceremonies at the informal dinner which was attended by Senators Phil Lewis and Don Childers of West Palm Beach and by Representative Mary Ellen Hawkins of Naples.

Sen. Lewis introduced the senate president by describing him as a man of integrity, a man who was willing to bite the bullet when the circumstances dictated, a man with an attentive ear and one extremely tired and impatient.

Sen. Lewis also expressed a personal opinion, contrary to the daily media, that the recently announced senate appointments were very fair and that there was not nearly as much bitter feeling among the senators over the appointments as the media would have you to believe.

President Brantley spoke freely of the issues facing the legislature and he pledged direct and untiring efforts to find solutions. He also expressed a personal view that the senate, generally speaking, was a happy group of men willing and dedicated to working together to solve as many of the state's problems as humanly possible.

Insurance, both workman's comp and liability, have increased tremendously and have caused some small businesses to go under, he said.

The inflationary trend must be stopped and he pledged immediate senate investigation into the cause. Increases are to be reviewed along with enforcement procedures. Sen. Brantley reminds those present that the recently adopted mandatory jail sentence for armed robbery had caused a decrease in that particular crime.

He was also critical of the tremendous amount of money that has been spent in recent years for country club accommodations for state prisoners.

We are spending over $33,500 per bed, per year in state prisons at the present time. We have institutions which have air conditioned rooms with only two men per room; air conditioned dining halls with food being cooked several hundred yards away so the prisoners won't have to smell the cooking.

We are spending $250 million per year for prison maintenance and services while we have prisoners who are not required to lift a finger. I favor putting the prisoners back on the roads for maintenance and repair. I favor requiring the women to sew and make a number of the present garments that are now being purchased. I favor prisoners working on state farms raising vegetables, peat, pork, etc. These prisoners are a drain on our society and there is no reason why they cannot be made to help support themselves in prison," he said.

Enforcement of present collective bargaining was also stressed by Brantley. "We have laws on the books which say that teachers and municipal workers cannot strike in this state and they are doing it and nothing is being done about it. How can we send our children to school and expect them to obey the law when we have teachers who have no respect for the same law? If the law says punish, we must punish," he continued.

Sen. Brantley was also outspoken in saying that there was no place in agriculture for collective bargaining and he pledged total opposition to organized farm workers.

While supporting environmental controls, he stated that there must be a balance and that the movement to preserve lands must not go overboard. I am strictly opposed to zoning land to prevent its use as agricultural.

"It is appropriate during this bicentennial year that we pause and reflect our early history which shows that people who live in bondage survive on faith; this faith brings liberty; liberty brings prosperity; prosperity brings complacency; complacency brings indifference in government and indifference in government takes us back to bondage," a cycle that has been repeated.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Arthur Kirstein, general manager of Okeechobee Sugar Mill and president of the Florida sugar cane league, presented Senator Brantley with a silver plated cane knife.

Sugar explained to Sugarcane League

Describing 1977 as possibly the "most important year on the agricultural front," Congressman Bob Bergland told members of the Florida Sugar Cane League Wednesday that cooperation between the various areas of the industry is vital if prices are to be stabilized.

Bergland, a Minnesota Democrat, was the guest speaker at the league's 18th annual membership meeting at the Clewiston Inn. The 48-year-old representative will be starting his fourth term in Congress in January. The six-year member of the House Agricultural Committee said that "10 cent sugar is the beginning of the end of the industry in the U.S."

He added, "The last thing we need to do is let the sugar industry go and depend on some off-shore foreign dictator. Bergland pointed out that the United States only produces about 10 percent of the sugar that is consumed annually."

Bergland said it would be just as bad for the industry to have domestic sugar reach 60 cents per pound as it is to have it at the present all-time low of nine cents a pound.

The Congressman said that in effort to stabilize prices and reach a more reasonable businesslike range to operate the industry, he will introduce a bill calling for a system of variable tariffs. A minimum price of 15 cents and a maximum of 25 cents a pound will be levied on raw sugar, Bergland noted that an import quota system might be instituted.

Asked if he thought his bill would pass, Bergland replied, "Some type of sugar policy is going to happen. There are serious talks between the Congress and President-elect Carter."

Although he hasn't talked to Carter about the situation, Bergland feels that the president would be in favor of a more reasonable sugar policy. Bergland said that since the present farm legislation expires in October 1, 1977 new policies must evolve to be able to handle an exploding product. The policies of the past won't work in the future," he said.

The representative said that the new Congress will wait for Carter to make his

Oral Health Products
With so many oral health products to choose from, it has become increasingly difficult for the consumer to sort out the types of products that are important and the brands that are useful and effective.

The best advice, of course, is to follow the recommendations of your family dentist. He may suggest a particular oral hygiene aid for your personal needs, and he may recommend a particular brand.

There is general advice, however, that the American Dental Association offers to consumers on making wise decisions in purchasing oral health products.

The ADA conducts a continual, independent review of some of the most commonly used commercially manufactured products. Those that have demonstrated usefulness and safety through scientific and clinical studies are allowed to carry statements of ADA acceptance on packaging and in advertising.

Consumers can look for acceptance by the Association's Council on Dental Therapeutics on toothpastes and the ADA Council on Dental Materials and Devices on powered toothbrushes, oral irrigators and denture adhesives.

What the consumer should know in selecting oral health products is one of several topics discussed in a new booklet, How To Become a Wise Dental Consumer, which is available from the ADA. It also tells how to select a dentist and how to save on dental bills.

For a copy of the booklet write the American Dental Association, Dept. J, 211 E. Chicago Ave., Chicago, IL 60611. Enclose 15 cents to cover handling and postage.

appointments and sort out his economic policies before any changes in the country's agricultural policy are considered. Horace Godfrey, the sugar industry's Washington lobbyist, introduced Bergland to vice president-elect Walter Mondale who is also described him "as having the qualities needed to serve as Secretary of Agriculture."

"I hear some talk about it, but I'm not running for the job," Bergland said. "I like what I'm doing now and it's very likely that Carter would have two people from the same state in his administration." Bergland was referring to vice president-elect Walter Mondale who is also from Minnesota.

If Carter asked him to take the Cabinet post Bergland said he would take the job. "I don't have the right to turn him down," the congressman said.

Following Bergland's speech U.S. Sugar Corp. president John Boy gave his report to the League. Boy has been the League's president for two years.

Boy said that he had the "dubious distinction" of serving as the president of the Florida Sugar Cane League not yet fully recovered from its decline of last year.

Another was the fact that prices of sugar-containing products which were raised so high two years ago are still at about the same prices, even though sugar prices are lower than they were three or four years ago before the rapid increase started. According to Boy, the major cause for the turn-around is that production during the current crop year is high around the world.

from its all-time high, plunged sharply downward, paused for a while in the range of 15 to 20 cents per pound, then receded to a low of 8.9 cents per pound on September 8th of this year. The sugar executive said there were a number of reasons for the drastic turning around. One was that the consumption of sucrose has not yet fully recovered from its decline of last year.

Hutton talks about finance

During the current strong recovery market, which has seen the average soar, the Barron's Oil Surge has risen only 6%, marking the oil as one of the worst performers of all industrial groups. However, there is reason to believe that investor attitudes toward oil may soon undergo a change and if they do, the question arises, is this the time to buy oil?

Oil company earnings are expected to improve in 1976 as demand for petroleum products continue to pick up from the recession levels of 1975. The turnaround was apparent in the fourth quarter as most oil companies reported higher profits from domestic operations. Domestic product demand, especially for gasoline, has already picked up and residual fuel and distillate demand, which has lagged earlier in the year, is also increasing reflecting strong industrial demand. Over the intermediate and longer term sales of residual and distillate fuels are expected to show the strongest gains as replacement alternatives for the dwindling supplies of natural gas.

In spite of the favorable outlook for renewed earnings growth, most oils have been selling in the market at depressed prices, at relatively low multiples of earnings, and on generous yield basis. The explanation for lack of investor interest to date can be traced to the anti-oil feelings in Washington, D.C. Although the country has become increasingly dependent upon foreign sources for both crude and refined products since the embargo of late 1973, nothing has been done to lessen the country's dependence on foreign oil.

The few laws affecting the oil industry that have been passed have been punitive in nature and create longer term uncertainty as to the ability of the industry to finance needed capital expenditures to provide adequate energy supplies. The anti-oil rhetoric in Washington has led to a popular movement to break up the large integrated oils.

Several divestiture plans have been proposed to force the major integrated oil companies to operate in only one or two phases of the industry. However, as a practical matter, we do not believe that the integrated oil companies will be forced to divest all or even a portion of their efficient integrated operations.

Although we don't expect the anti-oil rhetoric to stop entirely, we are optimistic that investors are beginning to refocus their attention upon economic fundamentals and that improved earnings will attract investors to this statistically undervalued group.

In spite of the loss of the oil company earnings will reflect a rising demand for petroleum products and a corresponding increase in operating volumes and capacity utilization with positive implications for the oil stocks.

Pateline History

by Jerome Turk &amp; Wm. D. Ellis

WASHINGTON'S HEADQUARTERS, HACKENSACK, N.J., Nov. 20, 1976—Two thousand American soldiers, mostly dispirited New Jersey and Pennsylvania militiamen, were personally led out of a trap by Gen'l Washington at ransackable Ft. Lee today.

But just across the Hudson at Ft. Washington on Manhattan Island, nearly 3,000 other Americans under Col. Robert Magaw were swallowed up a prisoners-of-the-enemy when that indefensible post fell four days ago. They never had much of a chance to fight.

The loss of Ft. Washington, its men, cannon & supplies is a stunning disaster which has affected the entire Continental Army.

Adjutant Gen'l Joseph Reed, in near-panic as he rode among the retreating soldiers from Ft. Lee this afternoon, scribbled a dispatch to the namesake of the fort, Maj. Gen'l Charles Lee, who is at New Castle with the bulk of the Continental Army, about 7,000 men.

"Dear General," Reed wrote on a scrap of paper while in saddle. "We are flying before the British. I pray—" Here the pencil broke. Reed hastily sent off a horseman with the remainder of the message verbally. Although Reed is a long-time personal friend and former aide to Gen'l Washington, the gist of the message is that Lee should come and rescue the army from incompetent leadership.

While he acted quickly and decisively to evacuate Ft. Lee this morning, Gen'l Washington had hesitated too long about the poorly designed and useless fort on Manhattan. He deferred to the judgment of the army commander, Maj. Gen'l Nathaniel Greene, to hold at Ft. Washington.

On the morning of the 16th the commander in chief visited the garrison at Ft. Washington, crossing the Hudson by boat from Ft. Lee with Gen'l Green and Gen'l Israel Putnam.

British Gen'l Sir William Howe's attack was a masterpiece, taking full advantage of the poor design of the fort that dissuaded defensive tactics.

Too late to withdraw the garrison, Washington, Green and Putnam were rowed back across the Hudson only 15 minutes before a Hessian brigade began to seal off all escape.

I saw it all happen and would not be here to report on the sad event had not my colleague Ellis later piloted a daring Rhode Island captain named John Gooch across the river in a small boat. Gooch brought a messager from Washington to Magaw, exhorting him to hold on until darkness when, with luck, many of the men might escape.

The enemy refused to allow Magaw the necessary four hours until darkness to consider surrender. When Gooch made the return dash over the cliffs peppered by Hessian bullets, I puffed along behind him to Ellis' waiting boat.

If victory has a thousand fathers and defeat is an orphan, the blame for the Ft. Washington disaster is being borne stoically by its step-father, Gen'l Washington. Officers, men in the ranks and politicians are pointing fingers of scorn.

The eccentric Charles Lee, who covets Gen'l Washington's appointment and is regarded as the top professional soldier in the Continental Army, has not hesitated to pour out criticism.

"I foresaw, predicted, all that has happened," he told intimates, "My last words to the general were—Draw off the garrison or all will be lost."

Gen'l Washington, receiving word that Howe had put 4,000 or 5,000 British across the Hudson at Dobb's Ferry this morning, didn't hesitate again. He leaped on his horse and galloped to Ft. Lee. Without debating or conferring with Gen'l Greene, he ordered an instant withdrawal from this fort that is isolated on a neck of land formed by the Hackensack River and the Hudson.

There was no time, Washington growled, to strike a tent or douse mess fires. Grimly, the Gen'l ordered that only the precious ammunition be loaded on a few available wagons.

A hundred of the militiamen disobeyed Gen'l Washington's order, broke into the fort's supplies, rum and got drunk. The Gen'l ignored them and led the column away. But two hours later Gen'l Greene returned and formed up 300 to 400 tipsy stragglers, escaping just in advance of the British arrival.

FCD outlines boundary lines

Two more steps were taken by the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District (FCD) recently to implement the State Water Resources Act. One step involved territory on the southwest coast, while the other concerned land in the central part of the state.

The 1976 Legislature set the final boundary lines for the five water management districts created by the original Water Resources Act in 1972. In drawing the boundaries, the FCD acquired part of Charlotte County, the remainder of Lee and Monroe counties which were not in the FCD previously, and all of Collier County.

The part of the District which will be leaving the FCD includes Indian River, Brevard, Seminole and Volusia counties, and parts of Okeechobee, Collier and Orange counties. These transfers will take place at midnight on Dec. 31, 1976.

When the West Coast area joins the District, part of it will be in the Okeechobee Basin and part will be in the Big Cypress Basin. At the November Board meeting, the District Governing Board set the boundaries of those two basins. The Big Cypress Basin will consist of all of Collier County, and that portion of Monroe County south of Collier, which was not previously a part of the FCD. The Okeechobee Basin will consist of the entire remainder of the South Florida Water Management District which is what the FCD will be called as of Jan. 1, 1977.

The Board's decision on the District Governing Board came after public hearings in Fort Myers and Naples on Sept. 21 and 22.

The land in the northern portion of the District which will be leaving the FCD, will become a part of the St. Johns River. Water Management District. Land, taxes, equipment, contracts and permitting functions of the FCD in that area will all be transferred to the St. Johns District.

A contract was approved by the FCD Board at its November meeting which allows the FCD to turn over to the St. Johns District ad valorem taxes collected in the area to be transferred.

The St. Johns District has not had the authority to levy a tax for 1976, but taxes are being collected there by the FCD. The FCD will give the St. Johns 75 percent of the taxes collected in that area.

The St. Johns has already taken over operation and maintenance of the FCD water control facilities in that area, and the FCD has been paying for that work under an earlier contract.

Much of the original Flood Control Project scheduled to be built in the St. Johns area will not be constructed by the new water management district. The Blue Cypress Water Detention Area is one of those features which will not be constructed. Land purchased by the FCD for this purpose will be made available to the new district.

Meetings of the owners, St. Johns and the Department of Environmental Regulation will be held to come up with terms acceptable to all parties.

This year's dry season began early, as the month of October was one of the driest on record in the month. Rainfall was recorded about 38% of normal or 1.60 inches. During October, lake storage normally increases, however this year the lake level declined, ending the month almost one-half foot below normal for this time of year.

Deficient rainfall during the month caused a large drop in the storage level in all Conservation Areas. Large regulatory releases were made through the S-12 structures to Everglades National Park, but no releases were made through S-10 or S-11 which interconnect the Conservation Areas.

Total storage in Conservation Areas 1 and 2 fell below normal for this time of year, having been above normal for over a year.

Rainfall in the Lower Kissimmee Basin totaled 1.40 inches, which was about 42% of normal. Rainy season rainfall totaled 27.01 inches, or 95% of normal. The Upper Kissimmee Basin was slightly more fortunate in receiving 1.83 inches, or 50% of normal. The rainy season rainfall totalled 30.08 inches or 108% of normal.

New Water Quality Authority

The Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District (FCD) has proposed a move which will cut some of the red tape of applying for water permits. The move is a memorandum of understanding between the FCD and the Department of Environmental Regulation (DER).

The memoranda will make it possible for an individual to file one application for work requiring permits from the FCD and the DER.

The FCD Board signed the agreement at its regular monthly meeting Friday. The agreement states its purpose: to "eliminate and avoid to the greatest extent possible the dual permitting and regulation of identical or similar activities within the state."

The two areas specifically included in the agreement are public water supply systems and artificial recharge of the aquifer. In both of these cases, the agency which issues the permit will not change, but only one application will be needed. Applications will be made to the DER, with those involving FCD regulations referred to them.

The FCD will continue to permit seepage trenches and wells as part of its surface water management, and the DER will continue to permit other types of structures which may artificially recharge the aquifer, such as sanitary land fills.

The details of the application forms and such are yet to be worked out by the two agencies, but the first step of cutting red tape has been taken.

In the same memorandum, the FCD agreed to undertake an investigation of the possibility of taking over some water quality authority from the DER. The major element in that delegation of authority is the requirement to establish waste load allocations. By July 1 that investigation should be completed and the FCD will determine if it can participate in this delegation of authority.

In addition to this agreement, the FCD signed another memorandum of agreement with the DER having the two agencies work together in planning of waste water management facilities. This work is being done under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (308 planning). The FCD also contracted with Metropolitan Dade County and the Palm Beach County Area Planning Board, which are agencies designated as 208 planners, to review programs of waste water management.

Three other agreements approved by the FCD Governing Board continue the District's role with regional planning councils as a review agency for Developments of Regional Impact. The FCD now has contracts with all of the regional planning agencies in its jurisdiction for this type of review for water-related aspects of these developments

"Tax Cents"

David L. Reid
Property Appraiser
Palm Beach County

This column is to answer questions about property assessment in the state of Florida. If you have any questions you would like answered, please contact David L. Reid, Property Appraiser, Room 214 of the Palm Beach County Courthouse 837-2866, Gladys Office Building 996-5511, Northeast County Courthouse, PGA Boulevard 626-6900, South County Annex 278-7711, on this newspaper.

(Q) I have a mobile home. Is it taxable or not?

(A) Florida law requires all mobile homes to either have an MHTV license or a property appraiser shall place the mobile home of the tax roll.

If the owner wants to claim homestead on a mobile home they must own both the mobile home and the land under it. The owner must permanently affix the mobile home to the land and buy at one time RP tag for the mobile home. The cost of the RP tag is $1.

The mobile home will then be appraised with the land and homestead exemption can be applied if the owner meets the other requirements of law for homestead and files an application for same. If the mobile home does not have an MH tag on it when the inspectors go by, it will be placed on the real estate tax roll if the land is owned by the same person. If the land is owned by someone other than the owner of the mobile home, the mobile home will be placed on the tangible personal property tax roll.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

The discrimination and there's discrimination, but by Granny, Grosse Point Park up the highway way just may have started a Bachelor Lib movement last week.

I mean, it's going a bit far when a couple of unmarried men rent a house and then get kicked out because they're bachelors. That's what happened to Donald J. Mazzola and Richard Gronan... but it might not be over yet.

The two guys were kicked out of the neighborhood by the city council at the request of their friends and neighbors, who have never met the two kickers, on grounds, "the presence of the two single men would ruin the family atmosphere of the neighborhood."

And the darn thing stuck because a city ordinance forbids people who aren't related by blood, marriage or adoption to live together in the same house.

Such good friends and neighbors! Those good people were also kind enough to point out that the two evictees had rented the home (for the paltry sum of $350 a month) and have moved in without permission of the zoning board.

Ain't we all glad to live in the U.S. of A. where everybody's free to live wherever they want to regardless of race, creed or color and not to mention sex. Only trouble was that none of those were mentioned and nobody's gotten around to passing a law line the rights of us bachelors.

One idea I had that could've solved the whole problem for the neighbors who were so concerned was that the two guys could've gotten married. That would take care of the problem nicely, but that would've only taken care of the Grosse Point Park problem.

It might would've grossed them out but Grosse Point Park should be used to that idea by now, judging from the press they get.

Problem is that the overall problem of an oppressed minority (don't you love that phrase?) in the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave.

Not a big deal of course, but I've never been able to figure out why everybody's always trying so hard to encourage people to get married.

Like such subtle encouragement as when a bachelor pays higher taxes for fewer state-supplied services than a married man or when he tries to get a job and can't because he ain't hitched up with a female of the opposite sex.

I've always noticed, like the gross-outs of Grosse Point, that single females sometimes get a break us men don't. There had been several homes in the Grosse Point Park suburb, for instance, rented out to couples of females with nothing said.

But let a couple of guys over the normal marrying age get together and the word's out that something's weird somewhere.

All of which really helps a guy's reputation and his chances to get ahead. But what the heck, what else can be expected anyway when even someone like a psychologist can take the attitude of, "What's wrong with you? What's the problem? You're 27 years old and you're not married yet so something's gotta be wrong."

Sure something's wrong. Doc. You're jealous; and you and the rest of the world are trying to get back at the bachelors.

Thass all right too because we gonna unite. Just had the germ of an idea for a group to take care of the whole problem. Gonna call it Bachelors, Organize Over Opposition! The acronym, of course, is BOOO!

That oughta scare 'em into letting us become a part of ERA. Do that and I might favor it.

Voice from the Wilderness

By Andy Campanaro

Newspapers are such weird creatures and usually, so are the characters that compose the staff of such.

Newsmen come in all sizes, philosophies and propensities, but there is common glue that binds them together. I once attended the annual American Collegiate Press Convention in Dallas, Texas.

In some four days, some 500 youths from all over the country - from coast to coast - met in a potpourri of seminars on subjects as diverse as "The Emotionless Objective Reporter, and How He Gets That Way" to "Marshall McLuhan - Prophet or Pop Philosopher?"

But the key to the convention wasn't in the hotel lobbies where the seminars were held, but in the motel rooms where an army of conventioners stalked from party to party, floor to floor.

So came the daylight and the usual tourist-trap walk up the book repository to look down the proverbial sights of Les Harvey Oswald's rifle towards the Kennedy motor procession, a Texas-style barbecue, and nighttime again.

The second, third and fourth nights I gave in, got a bottle and followed the crowd. These indeed were budding journalists, as they drank with abandon and groped each other intellectually.

It was at these loose parties (define the "loose" as you will) that the real purpose of the seminar became visible. Discussion centered on the "new journalism" and the handling of subjects and philosophies that - until this decade - would never find their way into the press.

Examples are myriad in any Florida daily but for specificity, a few items discussed in those Texas towers were: homosexuality, corruption, birth control (and, of course, with some 55 or 60 per cent of those present women, liberated and otherwise - abortion), public nudity, drugs, various shades of what used to be called treason but now may be called protest, pornography, and racism.

To name a few. Philosophies were of every color and hue and those long nights of discussion and downright screaming matches were when one learned.

The qualities of all, be they man, woman, freshman or graduate student, at the convention showed in curiosity and staunch insistence on their beliefs.

You could almost pick out the executives or advertising men, the editors, the columnists, the reporters and the soon-to-be dropouts by watching the variation of stubbornness in the speech of the individual.

There was one woman editor from Las Vegas who dressed all in leather and carried - so help me by oath - a riding quip with her and stood four inches above her natural height in spiked heels. Straight from the Marquis de Sade's writings this wench came, quick to make her presence felt by a sharp poke with her quip.

A rather quiet fellow in the corner turned out to be a closet queen interested in championing gay liberation. He is now, I have heard in the trade papers, with a large northern daily as their business editor.

There were exceptions rather than the rule, but all present seemed to be the leaders of their schools and universities and I came away from that convention feeling that the American people will be in for a very busy year, their press being dull, restless, or chiroscopically nebulous for the next generation.

For the later qualities, one should attend a publisher's convention.

High prices

Opinion

We're changing faces

So the hausfrau is making disgruntled noises about paying $1.77 a pound for beefsteak. She doesn't like the idea of coughing up $1.96 for every pound of pork chop to go on the table and she's not wild about the idea of paying 89 cents for a dozen eggs.

That's what troubling you and yours, cousin? That's what has the family back up? Just be glad it isn't Tokyo then, Mr. and Mrs. Consumer, because the Nipponese would like to have those prices.

Mamasan goes to the Japanese version of the local supermarkets and if she wants sirloin for the table "Satuday night," she plunks down $8.80 for each and every pound. Paman likes pork chops? That isn't quite so bad, but it still averages out to $3.17 a pound.

Eggs are a little bit better. They only fork over 94 cents a dozen but the Swedes pay $1.54 in Stockholm. That's the word being spread by Bob Lee through the Business Institute of Florida. And it may not sound like it when the missus is touring the meat counter but she has it pretty good compared to other housewives around the world.

And considering the fact papa probably pulls down a little more than papsan at that school version of the ball mines, it probably makes it a little easier than it sounds.

All it boils down to is, that we in America may not be able to put a sirloin on the table every meal but it sure beats not being able to afford to ever have one to split between the family.

Lee said the United States ranks 13th out of 15 countries surveyed by the Foreign Agricultural Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture so far as food prices go.

To get an idea of what that means, the U.S. food price index of 158.5 can be compared to the 194.8 for Japan, the 400.5 for Brazil and an incredible rating of 968.1 for Argentina, which had a 48.5 per cent increase in food prices over the last year. The United States had an increase of 2 per cent.

We understand the Japanese don't eat much meat at prices like that, we can understand why. It's not too hard to understand either why the Argentines may start having meatless meals in the near future. Maybe it's the Americans started thinking about counting our blessings and today is the obvious day to offer thanks to the nation's food and fiber producers for keeping meat on our table a few days through the month at least.

Readers of the Belle Glade Herald and the Everglades Observer will notice the first of a series of changes that are designed to improve the readership of the papers by including more area news and to give our advertisers an even greater public exposure.

The new two section make-up will include a homefront section with area features, super market advertisements and a classified ad section. The first sections of the two papers will contain local and area news plus the individual editorial and church pages.

Next week, the format of all Montlake Media newspapers will go to six columns, the more popular format in today's papers which allows for larger type for easier readership. The change is also beneficial in production.

The majority of the changes being initiated and those being projected were in the planning stages prior to the untimely death of owner Lawson Braswell. Residents of the greater Lake Okeechobee area are being assured that the newspapers have not been sold, nor is there any plan to sell.

Reporting vs making news

There's an old axiom in the news gathering business that reporters should report the news, not make it, which is why we were more than a little interested in a comment made last week by Catherine Mackin, the NBC network reporter who spoke at Palm Beach Junior College.

Miss Mackin said she had no trouble separating herself as a journalist from herself as a personality because she doesn't think of herself as a personality.

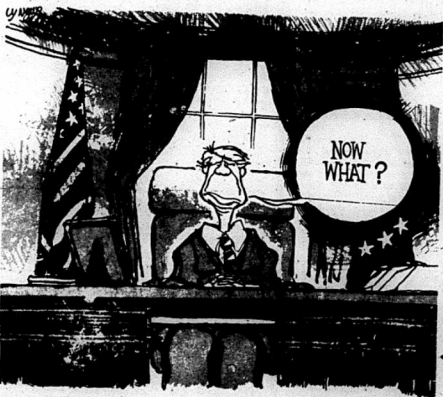

Asked why, if that were a valid statement, she had a number of reporters listening to every word, she replied, "It's a mystery to me."

If she really is mystified, she must be one of the few because virtually everybody recognizes, and has for some time, that television newscasters and reporters have a much more personal relationship with their audience than newspaper reporters and commentators.

Whether it's for better or worse, and an argument would be picked up in any newswoman for pro or con, television reporters do become personalities in their own right for the simple fact their audience actually sees them and can therefore identify more closely with them.

All of which may be an indication of a trend toward more personalized reporting in both the print and electronic media.

We may be old-fashioned but that doesn't seem like a particularly good way of reporting news. When the reporter becomes a personality, that personality can obscure the story, even becoming the story itself...and we believe that's moving into the realm of entertainment.

Time for tags

If your birthday is in November and you own a truck weighing less than 5,000 pounds, an automobile or motorcycle the Palm Beach County Tax Collector reminds you that your license plate must be renewed on or before your birthday.

"November signals the beginning of the staggered renewal system approved in 1975 by the Legislature," said Tax Collector Allen C. Clark. During the regular renewal period last July and August all vehicle owners renewed their plates for periods ranging from 4 to 15 months, depending on their birthdates. Beginning this month plates will be renewed during the thirty days immediately preceding the owners' birthdays and will be valid for twelve months.

St. Paul's to hold Women's Day

St. Paul Church of God in Christ at 912 W. Ave. A will be holding its annual Women's Day program Sunday, with Mrs. Josie Cohen, wife of Bishop Jacob Cohen, the featured speaker at the morning worship service.

The Rev. Clarence L. Brown, pastor of the church, said the morning service will get under way at 11:30 a.m.

her home with Ruth Carpenter giving the opening prayer.

The program featured a study of the New Testament's Book of St. Matthew, 25th and 26th chapters, led by Frances Voorhes, who was assisted by Inez Reeves, Mozella Brower and Mildred Collier.

It was announced that a hostess committee from the Gertrude Shirley Circle, including Alice Ramey, Sarah Vann and Inez Reeves, will be in charge of the serving of refreshments at the general meeting of Pahokee United Methodist Women Dec. 5.

The next meeting of the Circle will be held at the home of Evelyn Lay, Dec. 14, with Alice Ramey as co-hostess.

Sugar prices

"High prices brought beet farmers back into production and favorable weather in most of the major cane sugar producing areas has contributed to a world production considerably higher than world consumption this year," Boy said.

Boy went on to say, "we are not only in hard times, but we are facing a crisis of major proportion. If the domestic sugar industry as we know it today, is to survive, something has to be done. There is now a way the American sugar producer can compete on an entirely free market with the foreign sugar producer."

To rectify the situation, Boy said President Ford is being urged by all domestic producers to remove sugar from the duty free list of commodities and to exercise his authority he has to impose quotas. He pointed out though that regardless of whether or not the President takes any action, the long term solution to the problems facing the industry can only be solved by Congress passing some type of a sweetener stabilization program.

In closing Boy said that the Florida industry is protesting sugar production this year to be about the same as last year, when the first million bush crop was produced. He said that unless some type of program can be worked out the present boom or bust cycle for producers and high and low prices for consumers will continue.

will be looking for a rematch at 7:30 p.m. 11, according to GCHS Athletic Director Johnny Davis.

The exhibition is being sponsored again by the Glades Central Athletic Council and the local team will probably be led again by John "Cool T" Tudor according to Davis. Advance tickets for the game will be $1.25 for elementary students, $1.50 for high school students and $2 for adults. At the door, the tickets will be $2.50 for adults, $2 for high school students and $1.50 for elementary school students. Davis said the athletic council will also maintain a concession stand during the game.

THE SPLENDOR OF THE ## Snow

Snow falls and puts a beautiful white blanket over the mountains, and even before this one is gone, others will fall. It will become deeper and deeper until the spring, when it begins to melt and provides life giving waters to many streams. These streams meet with others and become rivers and provide water for irrigation and lakes throughout our land.

Jerry Clark is star at Bethel College...

Former Glades Central back breaking records in Kansas

Former Glades Central ace running back Jerry Clark is getting to be an expert at breaking records out in North Newton, Kansas, where he's now an ace running back for the Bethel College Threshers. One of 44 Floridians, including six from Belle Glade and five from Pahokee, on the 72-man roster at Bethel, Clark was named to the All-Conference team this week after setting a host of records and becoming the first Thresher every to run more than 1,000 yards in one season.

Clark said in a telephone interview last week he had set a goal at the first of the season to rush 100 yards a game and to gain 1,000 for the season. Although he was kept from his 100 mark in two games, he still managed to beat the season goal...and in nine games rather than the usual ten.

In rushing for 1,214 yards, Clark bested his own past record of 1,100 yards in a single season, set four years ago when he was playing for the Glades Central Raiders as a junior.

He also said past his own record at Bethel last year of 785 yards in a season, which was a school record until this year. "That mark fell in the seventh game this year."

Clark records the foot-fueled running back has set at Bethel include:

- Tying the most touchdowns in one game by racking up four six-pointers against Sterling.
- The most yards rushed in a single game, 256, also against Sterling.
- The most carries in a single game, 38, again against Sterling.

Pahokeeans are justly proud of community

PAHOKEE - Residents of Pahokee are proud of their town, and justifiably so. After all, it offers a rare combination to be found in this day and age.

The newcomer to Pahokee has the advantages of rural suburban living, yet "bright lights" of Florida's east coast are less than an hour away. And, for the outdoorsman, there is fishing and hunting grounds within a few minutes drive of a town's business district.

Naturally, the area prizes industry is sugar, with the season just now getting into full swing. And all area mills are now in operation according to industry officials.

While tourism isn't "prime" drawing card, the Pahokee area is one that shouldn't be overlooked by our Florida visitors.

After all, where else can you find palm tree lined streets, sugarcane fields, one of the nation's best fishing lakes and liberal hunting grounds within a few minutes drive of a town's business district.

And, for the sports minded resident or visitor, there is plenty of action for the high school and amateur fronts.

Take this week for example. Pahokee High's Blue Devils have just ended a highly successful (9-1) regular football season and entertain John Carroll of Fort Pierce in a home game opening the Class AA playoffs.

Kickoff is at 8 p.m. Friday on Pahokee's field.

Then, basketball opens and cage fans are looking hopefully toward a good season for PHS.

Turning to the club and fraternal organization scene, Pahokee has a surprisingly large number of groups.

For the male of the species the list includes the Lions Club, Rotary Club, Masonic Lodge, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Benevolent Protective Order of Elks.

Not to be overlooked, of course, is the Chamber of Commerce.

Turning to the distaff side, there is the Pahokee Garden, Business and Professional Women's Club, Order of the Eastern Star and Ladies of the Elks, LOPES.

Also providing a vital addition to the community are members of the Everglades Memorial Women's Hospital Auxiliary. The "Pink Ladies" offer a wide variety of services to hospital patients in the fields of food and comfort.

Rounding out women's organizations in Pahokee are three chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority. They are Beta Omicron, Beta Tau and Alpha Mu.

Two other organizations are within "shouting distance" of Pahokee, at Canal Point. They have a Lions Club and the Canal Point Garden Club.

Then, the avid fisherman may be interested in the area's angling society; carrying the official title of Lake Okechobee Tackle Tenders Bass Club.

Add to these activities the following: the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission, the Florida Game and Fish Commission, the Florida Game and Fish Commission, the Florida Game and Fish Commission.

and recreation areas - plus the nearness of West Palm Beach's night life, and it really makes Pahokee "top" on places to live in Southeast Florida.

Clark said he'll be coming home for Christmas but won't be making it back to South Florida next summer. He said he expects to be going to summer school before entering his senior year.

And what are his goals for next year? To break a few more records, of course.

Thanksgiving

The big, plump turkey that sits on so many tables on Thanksgiving is symbolic of all the things that we, in the United States, have to be thankful for. It indicates richness, plenty, and more than can derive quality of our land.

The fact that so many will have one of these huge birds on their table indicates that most of our citizens have the means to afford this symbol of prosperity.

Things for which the traditional Thanksgiving Day dinner is symbolic are the very things for which we should be grateful.

If, however, a few of us are so eager to slice into the bird, that we forget the advantages we share that enable us to celebrate Thanksgiving, it can be overlooked because this attitude shows the pleasure to be derived from all the things for which we are thankful.
